

Born in Mangalore, raised in Andhra, Shindu currently resides in Bangalore.

She works as an Assistant Manager, Marketing Ops at Emeritus. Most recently, she was the Resource Manager at Micro Focus where she looked after the DXC Projects, their resources, growth & business. She has also worked in the Marketing team for a sustainable project at the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.

She spent her Engineering as well as Postgrad days mostly by winning quizzes, providing mentoring support, getting involved in the ideation of start-ups like developing a comic app (with frames, pics, bubbles...), or coordinating in setting up an Ed-tech (Competitive exams training).

When she is not researching or pivoting tables, she solves the Sudoku, watching The Flash & re-runs of the Friends, reading books, brainstorming ideal start-up ideas with friends, visiting beaches, experimenting on new food in town, working out, or playing guitar.
