

Hailing from New Delhi, born and raised in a loving and social nuclear family. Kritha completed her school and college in Delhi and started working life from Bangalore with IBM in IT sector, moving to Accenture later, and after a good 3 years stint in IT, moved to Marketing to explore new industry and found a mojo in Education industry with Harvard Business Publishing and continuing the same as Program Manager at Emeritus. She likes the idea of continuous learning and growing. In her free time she likes to cook healthy food, read and explore yoga studies. She is a certified Yoga Instructor. She certainly believes in the value of guiding anyone in the right direction be it in terms of personal fitness or education.

